Converge Book Ends

BY COLIN KING STUDIO

MENU introduces the Converge Book Ends.
Designed as the finishing touch in a space, Colin King's object collection for MENU is as decorative as it is functional. Case in point: the new Converge Book Ends. Profiling a recurrent theme of balance and connection, "[Converge is] designed as a functional sculpture to have a strong presence when interlocked and an equally compelling spirit when apart," notes King on his sculptural design. Shaped from lava stone, the dark, porous texture lends an intriguing look and feel, creating the perfect fusion of old and new.

About The Designers
Professionally trained as a dancer, Colin King found himself at the intersection between a dancer's awareness of space and a stylist's impulse to bring it to life before foraying into the realm of product design. Currently based in Tribeca, New York City, he finds himself in a balance between being on set, styling and designing from his studio. Colin has styled for major publications such as Architectural Digest and T Magazine and hosts a myriad clientele within the genres of product and interior design. He is continuously inspired by life's everyday rituals, gestures and imperfections – made beautiful by their ever-evolving presence within a given space. Colin King is the designer behind Interconnect, MENU's monumental candleholder design.

A Sense of Community

MENU has always been fascinated by the way in which individuals and spaces can be united through great design. In our pursuit to craft furniture, lighting and interior accessories shaped by purposeful details, high-quality materials and human needs, we create strong and lasting relations between designers, manufacturers and customers. The sense of community that results from this union of like-minded individuals fosters a deeper sense of belonging – and products that stand the test of time, inviting human connection, inspiration and experimentation to push the boundaries of modern design. We truly believe that when we work collectively, we achieve more than we do individually: the sum of our work and of our connections is always greater than its parts, and our softly minimal designs and collaborative spirit help to join the dots between the home, the workplace and the service industry, redefining how we use space and, ultimately, how we connect to those around us.
